SIF vs Multi-Asset Allocation Funds

Rahul's question, answered in plain words

Data to 23 Oct 2026 · SIF Client Note · Page 1 of 1

In short: Over 12 months ₹10 lakh in a multi-asset fund became ₹9,92,900; in the middle hybrid SIF ₹10,75,100. They do different jobs and can sit side by side.

Rahul, 39

IT professional · ₹15 lakh in a multi-asset fund

Rahul likes that his multi-asset fund holds shares, bonds and gold. When shares fall, gold often holds up. In March 2026 that did not help much: his fund fell almost 8%. He wonders whether something that can bet against the market would have helped.

"I diversified. Why did it still fall so much?"

IN PLAIN WORDS

A multi-asset fund is a thali

Equity, debt and gold on one plate, at least 10% of each. Equity is the biggest katori, so when shares fall the meal still tastes of it.

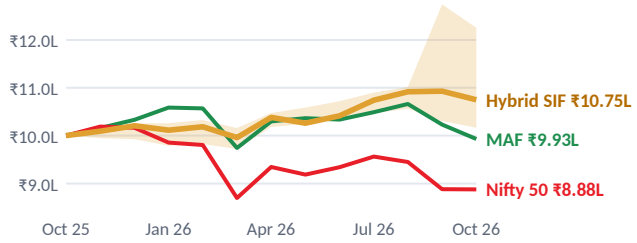

IN PLAIN WORDS

A hybrid SIF carries an umbrella

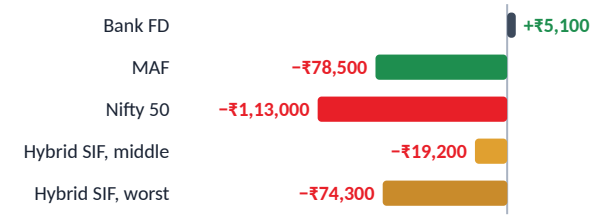

Most of the money earns steadily in arbitrage and bonds, some sits in shares, and a small 'short' part gains when markets fall. On a rainy day you still get a little wet, just less.

₹10 lakh, 12 months ago month-end value

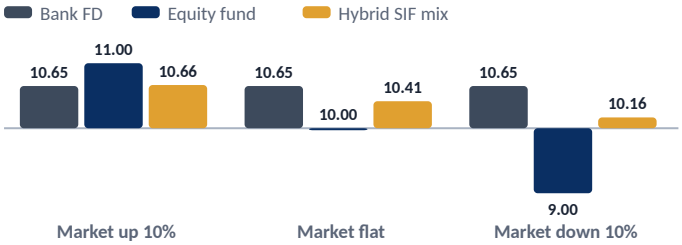

Gold band: the 3 hybrid SIFs with a full year; line: the middle one.

The worst month: March 2026 gain or loss on ₹10 lakh

The Nifty fell 11.3% that month. Before tax.

What if, next year? ₹ lakh after 1 year; illustration, not a forecast

Mix: ₹35 shares, ₹10 short, ₹40 arbitrage, ₹25 bonds. Real funds also depend on the manager.
