The investor curious about PMS

Anita, 49: the story, the conversation, and the numbers to show

In short: Anita likes the idea of PMS but not ₹50 lakh with one manager or tax on every trade. A SIF offers a specialised strategy from ₹10 lakh, taxed only when she sells.

Anita, 49

Doctor · 30% tax slab · illustrative story

Anita is a doctor with ₹1.2 crore in mutual funds. Two friends in her clinic use PMS and talk about it at lunch. She is curious, but ₹50 lakh with one manager feels like a lot, and her CA groans at PMS tax statements.

"I want something more than a mutual fund. Is PMS the only way?"

The conversation

PARTNER
What do you want from PMS that your funds do not give you?

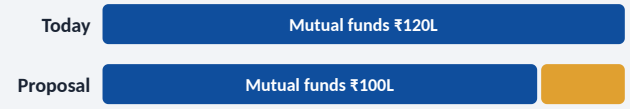

CLIENT
A sharper strategy. Something different.

PARTNER
A SIF gives specialised strategies, including bets against the market, from ₹10 lakh.

CLIENT
And the tax mess?

PARTNER
A SIF is taxed only when you sell. A PMS is taxed on every trade in your account.

Before and after ₹ lakh

Why a SIF may fit

- Specialised strategies, including long-short, from ₹10 lakh
- Pooled fund with a daily NAV, like her mutual funds
- No capital gains to report on every trade

Numbers to show

mutual fund, SIF and PMS side by side

	Mutual fund	SIF	PMS
Minimum	Small amounts	₹10 lakh	₹50 lakh
Short positions	Only to hedge	Unhedged, up to 25%	Only to hedge
Your money sits in	A pooled fund (units)	A pooled fund (units)	Your own demat account
Tax	When you redeem	When you redeem	On every trade
Price	Daily NAV	Daily NAV	Value of your holdings

Objections you will hear

They say	You can say
"PMS is customised for me."	A PMS holds shares in your name; a SIF is pooled. If you do not need that, a SIF is simpler.
"PMS returns are higher."	Some are, some are not. Compare after fees and tax, over the same years.
"SIFs are too new."	True. Treat it as a slice and judge it over 2 years.

Not suitable if

- Wants stocks held in her own name
- Wants a fully customised portfolio
- Cannot hold for at least 2 years
